Statement of Purpose

Northeastern University Global Network

Northeastern University is global nonprofit higher education institution, with an R1 Carnegie Classification and a Top 50 National University ranking from US News & World Report. Northeastern is internationally renowned for its highly differentiated experiential education, lifelong learning and use-inspired research programs. Northeastern is a university unlike any other: committed to understanding and solving the challenges facing the real world, by fostering talent and generating the knowledge that will enable a better society.

Northeastern's programs are deeply aligned with--and intertwined with--the needs and realities of employers of every type: industry, government, and nonprofit. Northeastern's signature co-op programs place thousands of students with employers for 6-month work assignments across 3,000 partner organizations. Northeastern's research activities--focused on health, security and sustainability--have grown in funding from government and industry alike by over 300% in the last 15 years: an unprecedented trajectory in the recent history of higher education.

Northeastern's global network of campuses—13 locations in total throughout the United States, Canada and the UK—serve as portals to all that Northeastern has to offer. Northeastern's signature campuses are integrally tied to the economic development goals and initiatives of the local ecosystem. At every campus location, Northeastern seeks to align its strengths with the needs of employees, employers, governments, and civic organizations in order for each to realize their potential through learning and discovery.

History and Governance

Northeastern University, founded 1898 in Boston, Massachusetts, is a private, non-profit global research university, and a worldwide leader in experiential education. Northeastern University received degree-granting authority from the Great and General Court of Massachusetts through a legislative act in 1920 and has maintained its good standing in accreditation from the New England Commission of Higher Education (NECHE) since it was first awarded in 1940. All Northeastern University programs fall within the university-wide accreditation process, assessment, and review by the New England Commission of Higher Education.

Northeastern University continuously self-assesses and formally reports every five years on its compliance with the nine Standards set forth by NECHE. Northeastern completed its standard ten-year re-accreditation process with NECHE in March 2019. At the heart of the self-study process were data, documents, and information gathered from across the university. Each of Northeastern's academic programs and regional campuses, in addition to the administrative offices of the university, contribute to representing the institution's goals and accomplishments in learning and research. As a result of this comprehensive review process, Northeastern has received re-accreditation valid through spring 2029.

Northeastern University Mission

To educate students for a life of fulfillment and achievement.

To create and translate knowledge to meet global and societal needs.

Miami Campus

Northeastern is a university tightly tethered to the real world. Defined by its connection to employers—through its co-op program and its commitment to use-inspired research—Northeastern's mission is to prepare students and develop solutions to have an impact on the world's needs today, and tomorrow. The signature differentiator Northeastern will bring to the South Florida ecosystem is the unique opportunity for all learners, in any program, to engage with real-world employers through experiential learning. Northeastern combines curricular and co- curricular programs with relevant professional experiences designed to develop students' broad knowledge, intellectual creativity, and analytical skills. This integrated experiential model prepares students to be active, impactful participants in our evolving society and economy—engaged global citizens and leaders, successful professionals, and self-directed lifelong learners. Northeastern's educational programs foster formal and informal knowledge-sharing networks that meet the learning needs of students at every stage throughout their lives.

Northeastern's signature campuses are integrally tied to the economic development goals and initiatives of the local ecosystem. At every campus location, Northeastern seeks to align its strengths with the needs of employees, employers, governments, and civic organizations in order for each to realize their potential. Building on the models that have successfully deployed across our global network of campuses, we will enable the creation of pathways into new and promising careers for our students, citizens of Miami, and those seeking to take part in the emerging economic opportunities.

Accreditation

Northeastern University has maintained its status as a member in good standing of the New England Commission of Higher Education, Inc. The university was last reviewed by NECHE in 2018 and will be reviewed again in fall 2028. Northeastern University possesses degree-granting authority in Massachusetts, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education.
